

Are their pouts

REAL OR FAKE?

Some were born with big lips, but others paid for them

Name that pucker!

Fake!

TOP-HEAVY

"Either Gwen Stefani's upper lip was stung by a bee, or she had lip injections," says plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn.

Fake!

FILLED TO THE MAX

Though Kim Kardashian says she would never get any lip enhancements, Dr. Youn feels nothing can explain her puffy pucker other than a few fillers.

TROUT POUT

Lindsay Lohan's career is going downhill, but her lips are bigger than ever. "They're overly plumped," says Dr. Youn.

LIP SERVICE

Jennifer Garner has a beautiful pout, but Dr. Youn suspects she may have enhanced the size with natural-appearing fat injections.

Real!

MORE KISSABLE

"Lips can swell during pregnancy and take up to a year to recede," says Dr. Robert Guida of mom-to-be Beyoncé's fuller pout.

Real!

PERFECT FOR PECKING

Dr. Youn tells In Touch Scarlett Johansson's lips — which he thinks are completely natural — are the most requested lips from his patients.

PLUMP IT UP

"My lips are my lips," says Megan Fox. But Dr. Guida notes her pout's elevated border is a telltale sign of a lip enhancement.
