Aging?

You can keep it! The Holy Grail for us is glowing skin, says makeup artist Bobbi Brown, who made model Olga Maliouk positively dewy in this story: "It's our obsession with youth. The French, on the other hand, are all about matte." The forever-young factor is also behind the American passion for plastic surgery. One Manhattan practitioner, Robert Guida, M.D., believes the French, in general, are less interested in age-reversal: "They're comfortable with a few wrinkles," he says.
